RA for Lower Limb Surgeries
in High-Risk Patients

Dr. Javed Khan (India)

Director Anesthesiology, Pain management and Palliative Care, Vishesh Jupiter Hospital, Indore

Abstract:

The main idea of my presentation is to deliver the various regional analgesia techniques for high-risk lower limb surgeries that the patient can sustain without any delirious effect on the cardiovascular and respiratory system of the patient.

These techniques should be easy to perform without much expertise.

These techniques should provide primary analgesia for surgeries.

There will be some techniques which provide preoperative and post operative analgesia as well.
